Love & Kindness Surrogacy is looking for qualified surrogates nationwide to fill an immediate need at their agency. If you're a mom, you know how incredible and rewarding being a parent is. Help individuals and couples struggling with infertility become parents through gestational surrogacy.

Love & Kindness is run by a team of former surrogates, egg donors, and surrogacy industry professionals, who aim to bring an unprecedented level of care, commitment, and transparency to the complex but rewarding surrogacy process. Learn more about our team here: bit.ly/lksurrapp.

As a gestational surrogate, you won't be biologically related to the child you carry, and you can still be a surrogate even if you've undergone a tubal ligation.

Apply today, and mention my name when you fill in your application!

How does the referral program work?

It's pretty simple.

You'll start by pointing moms you think would make good surrogates to our application, which they'll fill out with you as a reference.

We'll send you $500 when the person you refer is accepted into the program. That means the surrogate applicant has passed standard background checks, collected all her medical records, and her records have been approved by our own doctor.

You'll receive another $500 when your referral is matched with her intended parent or parents, directly after payment of the first installment of Love & Kindness's agency fee.
